PRUSSIAN RAILWAYS.

Want For Government Ownership of Transportation Lines.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—A strong argument for government ownership of the Prussian railways is contained in a report to the Reichstag upon the Prussian railway system. It shows that last year the railways from the railroads cost the state 244,467,174, or more than one-third of the entire revenue of the state. The railways, deducting 23,210,000 for working capital and sinking fund, were 221,257,174, which will be paid into the treasury for the use of the state. This sum is larger than the revenue from taxes of all kinds.

as made up of ordinary fine sand and clay soil.

All the sand was easily caught up by the dry winds whenever they exceeded 20 miles per hour, and it carried to great distances before it has time and opportunity to settle on the ground. It is easily brought down in large quantities by snow or rain, but is only removed by the ordinary observer when there is a clear surface of snow for it to fall upon. Large portions of country from Nebraska southward to the Gulf are covered by this fine soil, whose depth sometimes is 100 feet. A whole yard has been known to carry away six inches of the surface soil from a freshly cultivated field, and spread it over the land 100 miles away. The blackness is due to the fineness of the silt and not to any magnetic action.

MODERN CANDLES.

THEY ARE AN IMPROVEMENT
ON THE OLD FORTY YEARS AGO

The candle has been of use in the world for centuries, and it is a mistake to think that it is a thing of the past. It is still a useful and necessary article.

Next to the lamp, the candle is the most important article in the household. It is the only source of light that is not dependent on electricity or gas. It is also the most economical, for it gives out more light than any other source.

Yet the world has been slow to recognize the candle as a modern article. It has been looked upon as a thing of the past, and its use has been declining.

But now, thanks to the efforts of the candle makers, the candle is once again becoming a modern article. It is being made in new and improved ways, and its use is once again becoming popular.

The great performers of the stage have given behind four lights of yellow candles, and the candle has been used in the most important of the stage.

But the candle is not only used on the stage, it is also used in the most important of the household. It is the only source of light that is not dependent on electricity or gas.

In those days, early to bed and early to rise, the candle was the only source of light. It was the only way to get through the night.

But now, thanks to the efforts of the candle makers, the candle is once again becoming a modern article. It is being made in new and improved ways, and its use is once again becoming popular.

No branch of industry has undergone the change that candle making has in the last 50 years. Formerly it was merely a mechanical operation. Anybody could make candles, and almost every body did.

But now, thanks to the efforts of the candle makers, the candle is once again becoming a modern article. It is being made in new and improved ways, and its use is once again becoming popular.

The modern candle maker by chemical process removes impurities which leaves him nothing but the hard and white fat for his candles. Fat changed by this process is called stearine and is the material from which the candles are made.

the Talked of Creature

The new woman of the novel is merely one of the new woman of the day. It is the creation of a writer who is hysterical and degenerate, and the world takes her as something that really exists.

ONCE MORE.

The Columbus, Lima & Milwaukee Project Revived.

But Now It Is Another Company that Will Build the Road and Only Between Lima and Defiance

A project is now on foot which may result in Defiance getting a new railroad, running north and south, says the Defiance Crescent.

Marcus Pollasky, of the firm of Doolittle, Tolman & Pollasky, law officers, of Chicago, is in the city to-day looking up the prospects for building a railroad from the coal fields of southern Ohio to the forests of northern Michigan.

While there is nothing definite as yet, Mr. Pollasky spoke very encouragingly on the idea.

It is the intention of the projectors of the road to use the road bed of the C. L. & M., which is in good condition between Lima and Defiance.

The scheme is to extend the railroad north to Lake Michigan, passing through Adrian.

There will be a citizens meeting at Adrian to-morrow evening in the interest of a proposed railroad to be built from Adrian north, which is proposed by the Price syndicate.

Mr. Pollasky left this afternoon for Adrian. He was accompanied by Mayor Deatrick, who will attend the Adrian meeting to-morrow evening in the interest of having a road built from Lima north.

Mr. Pollasky held a conference this morning here, with a number of prominent gentlemen, including E. Squira, H. P. Miller, H. V. Haymaker, H. B. Harris, W. D. Hill, E. P. Hooker, and J. F. Deatrick.

JOTTINGS.

Some enterprising book worm, (if the term be not paradoxical,) has discovered that there are but three words in the English language ending with the letters "olon." They are coercion, suspicion and scion. Next!

The ambitious burglars who broke into the Heddens & McCauley grocery store last Saturday night, were evidently people of most decided taste. Of the entire line of coffee to choose from they took only of the "Lion" and "Arbuckle" brands, leaving the more expensive untouched. Of the confectionery only winter-green lozenges were selected, ignoring the luscious chocolate cream and marshmallow.

The Public Library fever among our citizens seems to be of the mild intermittent form, not likely to prove dangerous to contracted purse strings unless other complications set in. What we want is a genuine epidemic of interest and enthusiasm, not among a few, but the masses.

Passing along High street the other day a couple of Lima's prominent society women were discussing the reporters interview with the divine Bernhardt in which she is quoted as pooh-poohing the beautiful result of cold cream and the massage, and asserting she never had employed these methods to keep her self youthful. The conversation was concluded by the taller of the two ladies remarking, "Well, it's my opinion that Bernhardt is an unmitigated liar" and with the soft frau-frau of silken skirts they passed out of hearing.

And we quite agree with them. It is a fully demonstrated fact that relaxed muscles, so fatal to the soft contour of the human face, can be restored to elasticity by the frequent manipulations of the massage treatment. It tones the skin and creates a glow of health if not beauty.

At a small dinner party not long since, the conversation veered round to the new woman question, and a winsome little woman in a charming gown, conspicuous for its high necked-ness, remarked:

"I'm deadly tired of the so-called 'new woman'; she is a monstrosity, and outrages every sense of propriety. I would a thousand times rather go back to the dear, quaint, old-fashioned habits and dress of our great-grandmothers!"—and she looked quite equal to the experiment, as she sat with flashing eyes and parted lips.

She was answered by the middle-aged man with the carnation in his lapel, and who evidently enjoyed her frankness. "What has become of the grandmother, anyway? Evolution and the spirit of progress seem to have marched her completely off the stage. One rarely sees the bent old figure with the sweet face framed in snowy hair, sitting by the fireside, knitting. The fact is, she has ceased to knit, and has taken to clubs, associated charities and athletics, and all the other things that prolong life and end any look of age. The old-fashioned grandmother will soon be a memory only." The fair hostess at this point arose, and the conversation drifted into other channels with the return to the parlor.

The small boy is always in evidence and to the average specimen nothing is sacred, as the following colloquy will show.

"I say, Jack, they've found the head."

"Why, where was it?"

"On the pin."

The intricacies of an alley swarmed the little ruffian, and we smiled, wondering if this, after all, was not a "pointer" for the Cincinnati

OIL AND GAS.

ANOTHER DROP IN OIL.

The Buckeye Pipe Line to-day made the following change in the price of oil which reduces Lima oil three cents per barrel, making the price now as follows:

North Lima, 85 cents per barrel; South Lima 75 cents and Indiana 75 cents.

The following change in Eastern oil was also made: Tiona $1.45; Pennsylvania, $1.35; Barnsville, $1.25; Corning, $1.20 and New Castle, $1.10.

STRUCK AN OILER

The Safford well on the Bently farm, being drilled by Columbus parties, came in with a rush Monday night. When at a depth of 1,345 feet, or twenty-five feet in the sand, a large volume of oil was struck, and in a short time flowed out of the top of the casing. The Bently farm is located near Crawford. The Wyandotte Oil company, an organization composed of citizens of Upper Sandusky, own leases adjoining the Bently farm, and this will be good news to them. The new well is located on the extreme west end of the farm. Two wells previously drilled on the east end were failures. —Upper Sandusky Chief.

NOTES.

The Chapman well was drilled 10 feet into the sand and shut down with 200 feet of oil and water in the hole. It may be shot.
